

Kasimir Dorn

There are rights without consideration.
Many forget the latter
because they have to love
the former too much.

The former too much
they have to love, because
many forget the latter.
Are there rights without consideration?